GENUINE PATRIOTISM

NEW RESIDENT BACKS UP TALK WITH $5 CHECK FOR FLAG FUND

1008 Chestnut street,
Glendale, Cal.

Mr. Cowan, Glendale Evening News,
Glendale, Cal.:

Dear Sir—Don't you think that your paper could stir up a little display of patriotism in Southern California?

I am an Easterner and a new resident of Glendale, but I am very fond of the American flag and note with sorrow that that emblem which should be very dear to the heart of every American is conspicuous by its absence in Glendale.

While driving up Brand boulevard recently I noticed that there were two flags displayed on the boulevard. Now, why can not the merchants and residents of Glendale put a good, big Stars and Stripes over the main street of the town and show that their heart is with the boys who are selected from the flower of the country to fight for the standard that has never been defeated?

It is all right to sit at home, subscribe for your Liberty bonds and know that you have done your share (which is very true), but there are more of our young men actually fighting in the trenches for the sake of upholding Old Glory and carrying the Stars and Stripes under the Kaiser's nose than we have any idea of, and to show that we actually have them in mind is to make an unrestricted display of the flag that made you what you are, and stir up a little patriotic activity in an apparently unpatriotic community. Get busy and show that there are a great many good, true American citizens in our midst.

Let's show Old Glory flown from every business house and every private house in Glendale—and right away.

Take this from one who has relatives fighting for Old Glory and do your best.

Yours very truly,
D. RIPLEY JACKSON.

P. S.—Enclosed please find my check for a start to purchase Old Glory to hang over Brand boulevard and show that our hearts as well as our pocketbooks are behind Uncle Sam. Show your colors. Don't be ashamed of them.

TO ORGANIZE CITY WELFARE BUREAU

A meeting has been called for Tuesday evening, November 6, at 7:45, in the council room of the City Hall, for the purpose of considering plans for the organization of a charity and welfare bureau.

The purpose of this organization is to co-ordinate the efforts of all organizations doing welfare work in the city of Glendale, to the end that the entire field may be covered in a systematic way, and that there shall be no duplication of service or effort.

An invitation to send one representative to this meeting is hereby extended to every organization within the city of Glendale, which is doing or planning to do charity or welfare work.

Mr. D. F. McLaughlin, director of outdoor relief division, department of charities, Los Angeles county, will be present; also Mrs. Marie H. Hutchings, local representative of the county department of charities.

T. W. WATSON,
City Manager.

ADVENTIST CONGREGATION DIVIDES

At a large and enthusiastic meeting in the Seventh Day Adventist church last night it was unanimously voted to divide the congregation in order to relieve the crowded condition of their present church.

Beginning next Saturday, November 3, services will be held in the Tropico Presbyterian church at the same hours that similar services are being held in the Glendale Adventist church. Sabbath school, 9:30-10:30 a. m. Preaching, 10:45-12. The Tropico Presbyterian church is located on the corner of Central avenue and Laurel street, one block south and west from Tropico station. All Pacific Electric cars stop at Tropico station.

President M. M. Hare, of the Southern California Conference, S. D. A., will speak at the Tropico meeting at the 10:45 hour. Pastor G. A. Snyder will conduct the Tropico Sabbath school at 9:30. Union Bible study on the Holy Spirit in the Glendale Adventist church Saturday at 3 p. m.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Friday. Westerly winds.

Y. M. C. A. BANQUET

GLENDALE MEN ATTEND MEETING TO ADVANCE $35,000,000 DRIVE FOR WAR WORK

On Wednesday evening Messrs. Ed M. Lee, C. O. Pulliam, E. H. Willisford, Harry W. Chase and T. F. McCrea attended a banquet at the Hotel Clark in Los Angeles, given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. to advance the interests of the $35,000,000 drive to carry on the war work of this organization among the soldiers of America and her allies.

The principal speaker of the evening was Mr. Charles W. Whitehair, who has been working for the Y. M. C. A. for the last three years among the Australian troops in Egypt, the British soldiers in Flanders and, for the last few months, among the American boys in France.

The audience listened with intense interest for an hour and a half to the wonderful story he has brought direct from the front. He told of the conditions prevailing in Cairo, Egypt, when 50,000 Autralian soldiers came to that city, and there was not a single decent home open to the private soldiers except the homes of the missionaries, and no place of amusement except where the strongest temptations to vice prevailed. The ravages of vice among the soldiers were terrible. The Y. M. C. A. now has 200 secretaries and many buildings there caring for the physical, moral and spiritual welfare of these men.

In France the Y. M. C. A. secretaries have followed the soldiers of the British army to the trenches with their helpful ministrations, furnishing them with warm drinks of tea and chocolate and a place to rest when off duty. Behind the trenches the Y. M. C. A. hut form a center of recreation for the men. There are moving pictures, boxing matches, concerts, lectures, Bible classes and religious services. Everything possible is done to help the men forget the horrors of the trenches and of "going over the top."

When the American army landed at a certain port in France there was not a restaurant where they could eat without being served with wine and solicited by women of the street. To meet conditions like these, the association has opened restaurants and hotels in the cities where the American troops visit under the charge of American women who have volunteered to help. Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., is in charge of one of these restaurants. Mrs. Astor of New York is a waitress in one, and she told of having served an American soldier who the year before was a table steward on her yacht.

The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the American army officers. He spoke of their personal interest in the men under their command, and their anxiety over the vice conditions that endanger the American soldier boy wherever he goes.

The speaker made it plain that the military authorities feel that the gravest peril to the victory of the allies is not the German army, but the fallen women. Hundreds of thousands of men in the French, British and other allied armies have been incapacitated by diseases resulting from vice and the venereal problem is the most perplexing one troubling military authorities today.

It s the duty of the people of America to know these facts and help in every way to care for the welfare of our lads who have been called to the colors. The government has asked the Red Cross Society to care for the soldier after he is wounded or sick, and has given to the Y. M. C. A. the task of ministering to the American soldiers in their hours of recreation, to keep the home ties unbroken as far as possible, and to give them every possible aid in resisting the terrible temptations that assail the soldier in camp and on leave.

Mr. Whitehair's description of the preparations for a "push," the tense, sober earnestness of the many thousands of soldiers going into the trenches, with no laughing, no joking, no talking, but with a grim and terrible silence, held his audience breathless. As he told of the wounded coming back, covered with mud and blood, of the pitiful scenes in the dressing stations, of the quiet cheerfulness of the wounded men, we were moved to tears. It was a beautiful, heart stirring tribute that he paid to these brave lads who are fighting so unselfishly and bravely for the freedom of the world. He made an earnest plea that the American people at home prepare to make undreamed of sacrifices in giving to the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A. that they may do everything possible to care for the American boys who are going into this Gethsemane of suffering and self-abnegation.

TEUTONS REACH CADORNA'S DEFENSE

BERLIN REPORTS THAT A TOTAL OF 168,000 ITALIAN PRISONERS HAVE BEEN TAKEN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, November 1.—Austro-German forces have reached practically the line of Cadorna's Tagliamento river defense and has been halted there. Sixty thousand Italians have laid down their arms, according to Berlin reports. Statements say the total number of prisoners taken is 168,000.

FINLAND IS TORPEDOED

AMERICAN TRANSPORT IS HOMEWARD BOUND AFTER BEING ATTACKED BY SUBMARINE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The American transport Finland, torpedoed in foreign waters is homeward bound, Secretary Daniels announced this morning. There was no loss of life, and the damage to the ship was slight. The Finland is the second transport attacked while returning from foreign waters. The Antilles was sunk October 17 with a loss of 67 lives. The new system being used by the Germans in attacking transports is puzzling naval officials. The Finland is a 12,700-ton vessel, formerly belonging to the Red Star line, and is 560 feet long.

BIG AIR BATTLE OVER LONDON

THIRTY BRITISH PLANES ENGAGE FROM FORTY TO SEVENTY INVADING PLANES LAST NIGHT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, November 1.—The most violent aero battle London has yet experienced took place last night when German air craft raided the British capital. Three hostile planes penetrated to the heart of London, Lord French announced this morning. Bombs were dropped on the southeast and southwest parts of the city. About thirty machines engaged the invaders. The casualties were light considering the number of machines engaged. Seven groups of German planes with five to 10 in each group, making between 40 and 70 planes took part in the raid.

CADORNA MAKES HIS STAND

HAS LINE OF DEFENSE ALONG TAGLIAMENTO RIVER TO HALT INVADING TEUTON HORDES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, November 1.—The line of defense along the Tagliamento river where Cadorna will make his stand to halt the Teuton invasion appeared at dawn this morning. The situation looks better for the Italians than at any time since the German drive started nine days ago. A big battle is expected within a few days on the Italian front.

U. S. EXTENDS BRITAIN'S CREDIT

INCREASES LOAN TO ENGLAND TO $1,860,000,000—TOTAL TO ALLIES $3,566,400,000

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The United States extension of the greatest single credit of the war to any of the Allies occurred this afternoon when Great Britain's credit was increased by $435,000,000. This sum may be drawn on by England between now and January, 1918. This brings Britain's total to $1,860,000,000. Total loans to the Allies amount to $3,566,400,000.

OIL WORKERS STRIKE

NINE THOUSAND EMPLOYES IN TEXAS AND LOUISIANA OIL FIELDS QUIT WORK TODAY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

HOUSTON, November 1.—Following out the proposed strike schedule 9000 oil workers in Texas and Louisiana oil fields struck today. The workers declare the operators refused to recognize their union or to welcome government conciliation.

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP MORE THAN FOUR MILLION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, November 1.—The membership of the American Red Cross has passed the four million mark according to announcement made by the Red Cross War Council today. From a total of 275,000 members the first of the year, the rolls have grown steadily, until, on September 1, they totaled 3,750,000. Additions during the past month have boosted the grand total to well above the four million mark.

August was the Red Letter month for membership. The increase was more than a million. On May 1, there were scarcely a half million names on the roll. There are now 2555 chapters of the American Red Cross scattered throughout the country, with 434 auxiliaries.

EAST SIDE RED CROSS

MR. AND MRS. KELLY ENTERTAIN WITH MUSICAL PROGRAM FOR THE CAUSE

The Glendale East Side Red Cross Unit No. 1, with their friends, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gibson P. Kelly on Tuesday afternoon, when this most patriotic couple gave a delightful musical program for the benefit of the Red Cross funds at the home of Mrs. Potter, 321 Everett street, who kindly offered her rooms for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, who formerly resided on East First street, have returned to Glendale after an absence of several years spent in Sierra Madre, where they were intensely interested in Red Cross work. They immediately identified themselves with the activities of this worthy cause in Glendale, and among a number of other clever ideas for increasing the funds conceived the one of giving these musical afternoons. The one given Tuesday was one of a series of four planned by Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, the guests being Red Cross Unit No. 1 and their friends. About 35 responded, and the treasury was enriched by a neat sum.

A delightful program was given on their very fine toned Victrola, the records being of the highest order of music, and were further made interesting by a few words of explanation by Mr. Kelly prefacing each number. Miss Ida Potter assisted the hosts during the afternoon. The guests, with fingers busy with knitting and other Red Cross work, were most delightfully entertained, as well as feeling that they were assisting a good cause.

The next program will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Kelly next week, Friday, November 9, at 2:45 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. Potter, 321 Everett street. Admission, 10 cents. Any one enjoying a musical hour and interested in the Red Cross work is invited.

HIGH SCHOOL SALESMEN SELL LIBERTY BONDS

The class in salesmanship in the high school, under Mr. H. C. Joy, succeeded in a really remarkable accomplishment during the recent Liberty bond drive. Though only eleven in number, they started out to prove what their abilities in salesmanship, aided by the very efficient training they have received, could effect in the face of difficulties. They were greatly handicapped by the fact that their inspiration for this patriotic labor came rather late, and it was Wednesday afternoon before the movement was begun. Of course, these ambitious young folks were also severely limited as to time, as they could only devote the hours out of school, in which time they also must prepare their school work. Naturally, such obstacles as these would be ample excuse for small results, and even a moderate amount of success would have been praiseworthy under such circumstances. The surprising result, however, was out of all proportion to any one's expectations. In the remainder of the week those eleven splendidly trained young salespeople sold $8000 worth of Liberty bonds. Miss Caroline Foss has the honor of being the head of the class, and was rewarded with a box of delicious candy as well as the distinction which her place of honor carries.

FATHER O'NEILL RETURNS

Rev. James O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family church, has returned to his home, 311 Lomita avenue, after a ten days' absence at the Sisters' Hospital in Los Angeles, where he has been undergoing treatment for a serious infection of the eyes. He came perilously near losing his sight and is greatly relieved that the infection has been checked in time, though it will be some time before he has recovered a normal use of his eyes. He is glad to be at home and expresses gratitude for the many fragrant flowers and thoughtful messages sent him during his suffering by his many friends. Tomorrow he will conduct the services at the Holy Family church at 9 o'clock in the morning. This date, November 2, is the Catholic Memorial day, when services are held for the dear departed.

LITTLE GIRL FINDS HOME

The little girl in need of a home, whose story was told in the Glendale Evening News last Friday, has, through that mention, found not only a shelter but loving parents who have wanted a little girl. This happy denouement has rejoiced every one interested in the child, including her own mother, who is now enabled to keep her little daughter near her.

CHILDREN WILL HELP

WITH PENNIES, DIMES AND NICKELS TO SEND CHEER TO SOLDIERS

The Glendale branch of the National Defenders' Yuletide Committee of Southern California is now fully organized and busily at work at their headquarters, 1017 West Broadway. One of the first of the committee's activities to advance the cause of providing Yuletide boxes for Southern California soldiers and sailors will be an appeal to the school children to aid with their pennies, dimes and nickels. To this end, Mr. Mattison B. Jones will address the pupils of the Intermediate school next Monday morning. The other schools will most likely be visited in turn by various speakers selected. The churches will also be asked to help along the good work. Father O'Neil has already consented to ask his congregation to contribute to the cause next Sunday. Then there will be two benefit performances at the Palace Grand Theatre of "The Arms and the Girl," featuring Billie Burke, November 23, the proceeds to go to swelling the fund. Thus, with the valuable assistance sure to be given by the exempted men, city and civic organizations, fraternal orders and women's clubs, it is believed that every Southern California soldier and sailor in the service of his country will receive a Christmas gift that will gladden his heart and make him feel that there are grateful ones at home who are mindful of the sacrifice he is making for them. It is designed that these Yuletide boxes shall cost $2 each and be uniform as to contents.

FOOD CONSERVATION PROGRAM AT THIRD STREET SCHOOL

At the regular Wednesday assembly of the Intermediate school a very instructive as well as entertaining program was given in the interest of the food conservation campaign, for the most part by the children themselves. Some very entertaining readings were given by the pupils, amusing in substance but serious in their purpose of calling attention to the very real necessity for eliminating the waste of our important food supplies. Miss Woodridge, who is the domestic science teacher in the Glendale schools, was the speaker of the afternoon. Her talk was practical and interesting, and graphically illustrated by a waste basket partially full of bread crusts contributed by the janitor, who had picked them up as the leavings of a single noon lunch time at the school. Miss Wooldridge explained that this same janitor had been maintaining a dozen hens on this daily ration, and, while we sympathize with the hens, we agree that our surplus white bread could be devoted to a better cause in such times as these. Professor White made the announcement that the school, whose enrollment is about 285, had sent to the Glendale headquarters of the food conservation campaign 310 pledges whose signatures were obtained through the children of the school, each family being thus more than represented.

ART STUDENTS ATTEND EXHIBIT

On Tuesday afternoon Miss Irene Muller took 24 of her girls from the more advanced classes of the art department of the high school down to Exposition Park to view the pictures in the eighth annual exhibition of the California Art Club, of which Mr. William Wendt, himself a distinguished artist, has been the successful president for all but one of the eight years of its existence. Miss May Alma Cook was the speaker of the afternoon, and gave a most instructive talk on the difference between modern and ancient art. This is the second exhibition on which Miss Muller has led her students to the art exhibit of late, the earlier one being when she was so fortunate in being able to take her seniors and post graduate students to the artists' private view the evening before the exhibition was opened to the public.

RED CROSS TO HAVE GOOD EATS

There will be an all-day Red Cross cooked food sale at the headquarters of the Glendale chapter, Brand boulevard, just north of the postoffice, Saturday, beginning at 9 o'clock. Contributions of home-made bread, biscuits, pies, cakes, meats, salads and other delicacies have been promised, and will be sold at moderate prices. Arrangements are also being made to serve light lunches between 12 and 2. Mrs. Jack Boettner, 1228 West Ninth street, will have charge of the sale and will be glad of further contributions and assistance. Her telephone is Glendale 839-M.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1917

GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES ENJOY WAR PROSPERITY

A merry war is on among government department heads for labor. So flagrant has become the rival bidding for employees to man the many new bureaus that the puzzled executives are making aggrieved protests to Congress.

The government clerks, some of whom haven't had a raise in pay since Polk's administration, are feeling a bit of war's prosperity.

"They are fairly robbing me!" declared Secretary Redfield, referring to the new shipping board. He said they were taking all his experts who have done their experting heretofore for $1,600 a year, and starting them out at from $3,200 to $4,000. His commerce department, he declared, was being ruinously disorganized.

Stricter rules are in force against transfers of civil service employees from one department to another. But the men simply quit, and soon get another job with another department head who rarely proves particularly inquisitive as to their past if they can do the work.

Before the war, Washington was strictly a low-wage town. Congressmen found more votes were gained by spending appropriations in their districts back home than in raising Clerk Bill Jones' pay from $560 to $630 a year.

GREAT COMET COMING

A big comet is headed this way, apparently one of the largest on record. At least, it is now visible in the telescope, though it is more than twice as far away as Halley's comet was when it first became visible. If it keeps its promise, it will be a prominent object in the sky in the late winter and spring, and a tremendous spectacle in the early summer.

It will be interesting to speculate how much influence this apparition may have on the return of peace. Actually, of course, it should have nothing to do with it. But human nature is not always controlled by actualities. Comets have always been the objects of superstitious awe. Especially they have been regarded as portents of change, in wars and in the lives of kings. When Halley's comet appeared in 1066, coincident with the Norman conquest, it was recorded in tapestries woven by the conqueror's queen, with the motto, "Isti mirant stella." A comet signaled the Great Plague in England, and examples could be multiplied, from the Star of Bethlehem onward. This comet will appear in the sky at a crisis in the world's history. It will shine over vast armies, few of them versed in astronomy, but all of them emotionally aroused to a mystic exultation. It will shine over armies of Russian peasants, who fight, not as their officers tell them, but as their own committees determine. It will shine on a nation of hungry Germans, praying for a sign from God. It will shine like a sword of Allah on the armies of the Turks. Even in England it will find a people in a mystic religious revival. And in Germany it will shine on a mediaeval Kaiser who believes himself a personal messenger of God. The effect on all these aroused imaginations may easily be a decisive factor of peace or war.

Fancy might even speculate further outside the realm of superstition into that of conceivable astronomy. It is mathematically probable that in the course of geologic ages the earth has several times been struck by the head of a comet. If it were possible to hope that this were to be such a comet and that it were headed for a spot say fifty miles across centering at Verdun, then for the first time in history war would have been stopped by direct intervention from the skies. And not one person in a million could be convinced that it was a mere astronomical coincidence. The astronomers would calculate the impact; the armies would retreat; there would be fifty miles of chaos, and all Europe filled with meteoric showers—and the armies would never come back. Peace would have been made by the only bombardment big enough to surpass what man is doing already.

Unfortunately, this is only a fancy. The comet is not pointed at Verdun, nor at the earth at all. But if a hypothetical comet could make peace, by unlocking for once the death grip of the armies, why can not men, by the exercise of intelligence, unlock that death grip, too? Possibly the comet that will not bombard them to it, by direct assault, may scare them to it by appealing to their imaginations.—Fresno Republican.

COLLEGE HEAD "DOING BIT"

BEAVER FALLS, Pa.—From college president to stevedore is a long step, but that is what has happened in the life of Rev. Dr. William Henry George, former president of Geneva College here, who is doing his bit "somewhere in France." Mr. George enlisted as an ambulance driver in the American Red Cross unit of Harvard university, of which he is an alumnus. Arriving in France, he found that there were more ambulance drivers than ambulances, so he volunteered for work in the supply division. He is now doing the work of stevedore and ordinary laborer, according to a letter received by his sister here.

MOBILIZE HOSPITALITY

A new form of "mobilization" in connection with war work is being undertaken. It is aimed to improve the morals, to increase the fighting spirit and add to the efficiency of the American army and navy.

It is the "mobilization of hospitality."

The United States setting a new precedent is attempting to gather together all the sources of hospitality in all the communities surrounding military training camps. The aim of this work is a serious one. While the recreation and amusements to be provided will add to the enjoyment of the soldiers and sailors, the prime idea is that healthy environment around the camps, with proper welcome to the soldiers, will add to the strength of the army and navy.

Officials at the national head here of the war camp community recreation fund, of which John N. Willys of Toledo has been appointed chairman by Secretaries Baker and Daniels jointly, state that this is the first time in the world's history that sustained and organized effort has been made to throw around a nation's army all the wholesome, stimulating environment by which the men in training would be surrounded if they were at home. Always in the past camp and community have been left to shift for themselves with resultant damage to both sides.

Trained organizers, under the direction of the war department and navy department commissions on training camp activities, are lining up the forces around every training camp to give the men the helpful, normal entertainment which they desire and to which they are entitled. "Three dollars for each soldier and sailor," is the amount needed to carry on this big work for the next 12 months. Practically every city and town and hamlet in the whole United States has been assigned a quota which they will be expected to raise for the war camp community recreation fund.

There will be no especial week set aside for the collection of this fund, but it will be gathered together within the next two or three weeks. Telegrams already are arriving from many cities in all parts of the country stating that they will do their part toward helping to win the war in this way.

U-BOAT WARFARE SOUNDS THE DOOM OF FORECASTLE

One interesting result of submarine frightfulness has been to provide for the comfort of crews in a way which otherwise might not have come in our time.

The noisome forecastle, a tradition from the days of sails and of the small ships in which comfort could not very reasonably be expected, is eliminated in the new standardized British ships. Instead, the shipping controller, Sir Joseph Maclay, has decided that the men are to be berthed aft.

The primary reason was to secure increased safety from mines and torpedoes, but improvemnts are to be added which will make sea life pleasanter and which, doubtless, will be kept after the war. In place of the open forecastle, there will be double-bunked cubicles, and a messroom will be added, as well as a common smoking room for sailors and firemen.

With so much new shipping being constructed these improvements can be made very rapidly, and will effect such a revolution in sea life as could not have been anticipated in our time, says the Springfield Republican. No doubt our shipping board is keeping track of all these British innovations.

Remember our store for notions. It's such a handy place; almost on the corner, and the departments right up in front. Williams Dry Goods Store. 52t1

ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

All Saints' Day service at St. Mark's church was a beautiful sermon, and well attended. Tomorrow, Friday, November 2, at 3 p. m., there will be a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary in the Sunday school room of the church, which all the ladies are urged to attend. Mrs. W. S. Porter, president.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MERCHANT FLEET RADIO OPERATORS

WASHINGTON, October 20.—Two New England youths decided some time ago that the United States needed a free radio school to train wireless operators for our new merchant fleet. And so, without making much fuss about it, they went ahead and established the school without cost to the government.

Today these young men are training a class of forty in the mysteries of the Hertzian waves. The graduates of the free six months' course are all pledged to join America's mercantile forces as wireless operators. Secretary of Commerce Redfield, traveling through New England on his vacation, "discovered" the lads and has commended them in an official report.

Arthur Batcheller, a radio inspector in Boston, and Walter J. Butterworth, a clerk in the same office, were working for the navigation bureau of the Commerce Department when the national crusade for a huge merchant marine began. "If we need thousands of ships we will need thousands of operators," said Batcheller. How are we going to get them?"

He interested Butterworth in the proposition. They made their plans—got an official O. K., on them and then went ahead. They borrowed camp chairs from a local steamboat company, dragged out an old blackboard from a school basement, obtained instruments and testing machines without cost by appealing to the patriotism of leading radio companies, and, by sheer grit and perseverance, corralled all the other requirements for their school, including office space.

Then they sent out a call for pupils. By the score they responded. Result: A growing corps of wireless operators for the American merchant marine, trained free of all charge.

WAS NOT TO BE FOOLED

"Some women are terrors," remarked a Brooklyn man in a whisper, "and the wife of a friend of mine is sure one of that species. I was smoking in her presence the other day, she having said I might, and she sniffed the atmosphere a time or two before making any comments on my efforts.

" 'Huh,' she said, 'I don't object to smoking, but I do object to a bad cigar.'

"I thought I had her dead to rights on that and proposed to crush her in her pride. 'I beg your pardon, madam,' I replied with charming naivete, 'your husband gave the cigar to me.'

"But did that keen repartee knock her out? It did not.

" 'I don't believe you,' she said with cold assurance. 'My husband never gave anybody a cigar in his life. I know him.'

"Of course, further badinage on my part was useless and I backed off, quite abashed. And the sad, sad part of the story is she called the turn on me both times. That's one reason some women are terrors."

"Father, what kind of beasts were the rams they used so much in the Civil war?"

"They were probably the ancestors of the ewe boat of today, my boy."—Puck.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Spear, of 1551 Penn street, are rejoicing in the arrival of tiny Joan Spear, a seven and a half pound baby girl, born this morning about 8:30.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Von Oven, of 830 South Columbus avenue, entertained as their dinner guests on Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker of Los Angeles. Mr. Baker is the vocational director of the Y. M. C. A. in Los Angeles.

Mr. Charles O. Paradis of Avalon, Cal., is a week end visitor at the Richardson home, 805 South Central avenue. Mr. Paradis has many friends in Glendale who will be glad to have an opportunity of seeing him, if only for a brief visit.

Mrs. C. A. Lehman, of 429 North Louise, was most agreeably surprised on Wednesday morning by her cousin, Mr. M. Schwartz, of San Francisco, who, with his bride, is on a honeymoon trip in Southern California. Mrs. Lehman spent the day very agreeably with the young couple in sightseeing in the vicinity.

All members and friends of the Glendale Garden Society are invited to be present this evening at the regular monthly meeting, which will take place at 7:30 at the home of the president, Mrs. Nanno Woods, 1222 Milford street. Miss Olive Williams will give an informal talk on "What I Learned About Floriculture at Berkeley."

Mr. Harry B. Walker, of the Walker Jewelry Company, with Mrs. Walker, moved on Tuesday from his residence at 1514 Arden avenue to 1008½ Broadway, after having rented his former home to Mr. and Mrs. Potter and family, formerly of Burbank. The Walkers also rented the adjoining house to Mr. and Mrs. Swayne and family of Sawtelle, who now expect to be permanent residents of Glendale.

A very delightful Halloween party was given Wednesday night by Miss Marion Von Felde at the home of her parents, 305 South Kenwood street. All the games of Halloween were played, and the little guests came dressed in costumes. Apples, doughnuts and candy were served. Those present were: Miss Janet Yarbro, Gladys Jordan, Florence Seeley, Nellamata Perry, Earl Seelery and the little hostess, Marion Von Felde.

Fifty pumpkin pies are desired for the Red Cross food sale on Saturday, and as the Red Cross now has more pumpkins than anything else it is only the pies that are lacking. Any one wishing to bring about this delectable combination may apply this afternoon at the Red Cross headquarters, where more than a hundred pounds of pumpkin await distribution for those ladies who will offer their services to this cause.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Hill, of 120 North Kenwood, entertained as their guests on Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vallentine of Mason City, Ia., who are for the present located in Los Angeles. Mr. Vallentine is a manufacturer of brick and tile in his home city, and is expecting to spend the winter in Southern California. He expressed himself as more than pleased with Glendale and expects to motor out again soon and make a longer visit.

Mrs. C. G. Farrow, of 1314 Doran street, who, with her little daughter, Virginia, spent last week in San Diego and La Jolla, is again at home. Mrs. Farrow visited her sister, Mrs. C. L. Eckel, who is now making her home in La Jolla since Captain Eckel is with his company, the 115th Engineers, at Linda Vista. On Sunday Mr. Farrow, with his daughter, Alice, and C. G., Jr., motored down to La Jolla and returned with Mr. Farrow and little Virginia.

Claude Fellows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fellows, 212 South Howard street, who has been second baker on the U. S. S. Rainbow, at San Francisco, has returned home on sick leave. He hopes soon to be sent to New York, but has met with difficulties in an injured ankle, which was hurt in an accident several years ago and still occasionally causes trouble. He expects to return in about ten days, but does not know as yet what his orders will be.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Jackson gave a Halloween party for their son, Kenneth, Wednesday night. Among the invited guests were: Miss Ethel Shaull of Tropico, Miss Grace Crampton of Glendale, Miss Iris Banack of Glendale, Miss Naomi Taylor of Glendale, Miss Josephine Selecmann of Hollywood, Mr. Francis Selecmann of Hollywood, Mr. Brigham Bennet of Glendale, Mr. Robert Stone, Mr. Robert Burson, Miss Bob Aborgast of Los Angeles and Mr. Dick Kibler of Los Angeles. Games were played and there was dancing. Delicious refreshments were served.

LETTER FROM SERGEANT EMERY

A letter has been received from Attorney Owen C. Emery, who is at American Lake, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, of 117 South Kenwood, telling of his appointment as sergeant of the Third motor truck company, which is the highest office of noncommissioned rank. He received his official notice of his promotion on October 26, which placed him directly in this position from the ranks without having first received the office of corporal. Sergeant Emery reports conditions at Camp Lewis very good at present. His captain and first and second lieutenants are strict but very good to their men, being always considerate of their welfare.

POSTPONED MEETING AT CERRITOS SCHOOL

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Cerritos Avenue school has postponed the meeting for Friday, November 2, until Thursday, November 8, because of the entertainment to be given on Friday by the Ralstons for the benefit of the playground apparatus of the school. The postponed meeting, which will be devoted to the subject of "Recreation," will be one of especial interest, since it is in charge of Mrs. Ella Richardson, who is the chairman of recreation for the First district of the Congress of Mothers, and therefore in a position peculiarly fitted to secure a program of the highest interest. Mr. Raitt, who is the leader of public recreations in the city of Los Angeles, will be the speaker of the evening, and will illustrate his talk with moving pictures.

LARGE HALLOWEEN MASQUERADE AFFAIR

A large Halloween masquerade party was given on Tuesday evening by Miss Emily Van Osdoll at her home, 253 North Central avenue. About fifty young people were present and spent a very jolly evening. Decorations were in the orange and black Halloween effects, the house being beautifully trimmed with yellow flowers and with festoons of crepe paper, and fantastically lit with jack o' lanterns, in whose dim radiance ghosts were weirdly grouped in corners and witches with their attendant spirits in the contorted shapes of black cats and bats hovered about the scene. The picturesque costumes of the guests added to the grotesqueness of the scene. Prizes were awarded for the cleverest costumes, the first prize being won by Vern Wilson, who appeared as a most realistic witch. Coffee and pumpkin pies, with apples and nuts, were served. Halloween games of all kinds were played, furnishing much amusement, and the ghosts and goblins all departed in the spooky hours of the night with the memories of a very entertaining evening.

COSTUME PARTY

George and Robert Roach, of 1428 Lomita avenue, gave a Halloween party on Wednesday evening to about twenty of their young friends, who came masked and in costume. The guests found the house a place of mystery, decorated so effectively as to give the weird night of Halloween a very realistic setting, and each in turn was conducted in ghostly silence through the dim rooms to one in utter darkness, where spirits in great distress most evidently dwelt, giving unearthly voice to their feelings in the matter. Later, the spirits indulged in some very jolly games, and Doris Packer won the prize given for the greatest success in "bobbing" for apples. Marie Hearnshaw gave a dance and sang a song in keeping with the occasion, "The Haunt of the Witches." The young guests departed for their homes before the mystic hour of midnight had arrived.

URGENT NEED FOR SURGICAL DRESSINGS

Mr. Harvey D. Gibson, general manager of the Pacific Division Red Cross, reports the following cable received from Major Murphy:

"The Red Cross has direct responsibility of supplying us with sugical dressings, and nothing in the whole situation here is equally important. Red Cross standard dressings in millions must be sent over with all possible speed. If this is not done, and done immediately, a serious calamity and national disgrace is inevitable. The American women who compose the Red Cross chapters should prepare with all the enthusiasm and speed possible the dressings which are going to mean life or death to our own men. This whole question deals with the most vital thing that the women of America can do for the soldiers in this war."

During the summer a great many people leave the cities, and you have probably noticed that the number of workers in your workrooms has diminished. The effect of this urgent need hould be to get all of these people to again take up this work in earnest and do so knowing that they are rendering a real service. Representatives of the Women's Bureau have just arrived this week from abroad, and they inform us that it is hard for us to appreciate the great quantities of dressings which are necessary. To best enable us to visualize this, they have informed us that cases are numerous where an entire box of dressings is used on one patient.

You can see from the above that the surgical dressing situation abroad is extremely important. Please see what can be done in your organization to increase the output of surgical dressings. In doing this, do not discontinue other work, but get more and more surgical dressing workers and increase the activities of your chapter in that department.

GEN. PERSHING MAY NAME AMERICAN FIGHTING UNITS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Secretary of War Baker today said he'd leave to Gen. Pershing the question of giving American fighting units in France distinctive names. Baker was asked whether he favored naming all units after the manner of the "Clemenceau Battalion," so named by Gen. Sibert in honor of the well known French statesman.

Sibert gave the unit this name after Clemenceau had reviewed the troops. His action has started a movement to name all the American units. If Pershing approves, this probably will be done. The War Department will leave it to him.

"Gen. Pershing can work that out," said Baker. "If he thinks it will increase the fighting morale of his men, no doubt he will have them named."

The idea back of the movement is that men of a regiment with a distinctive name will go to greater lengths to win laurels for their unit, and do more to keep that name untarnished, than men who are mere cogs in a numbered unit, with nothing but its number to distinguish it from other units.

AMERICAN ENGINEERS NOW UNDER FIRE IN FRANCE

Somewhere in an active sector the American railroad engineers are running trains right up to the front. They are the first American regiment to come under shell fire in the great war.

An entire railroad system, from the general manager's office to the beat of the lonely track walker, has been handed over to the Sammies by the French war office. Trains manned by American boys are moving on a strict schedule, carrying shells for the guns, food for the French troops and the daily movement of poilus going forward or coming back on leave to rest.

Temporarily the regiment is loaned to the French for the operation of that railroad. The Sammies may stay on the job there for the duration of the war or they may be shifted to some other line. They get French rations and their road is a part of the French system. But they wear their own uniform, draw American pay and run the road by their own method, which means economy of man power.

At some points their line is within the range of the Boche gun and shells crump at random along the right of way. At night there is danger of Boche aeroplanes slipping through the tight French aerial patrol and bombing the Sammies at work. This has happened, but so far our troops have had no casualties.

I was with engineers last night when they marched to the troop train to move forward. The move was made without any unnecessary sound to guide Boche air raiders. Along pitch dark streets they swung through the town to the music of their own hob nails beating on flint pavements. The bandsmen were there with their horns smothered in green kimonos to prevent the moonlight from glinting on the brass.

The American commander kept the time of departure secret so that half the town would not stay awake till 1 a. m. to see his boys off.

Breaking into single file, the Sammies stepped out of the darkness into the American Red Cross buffet at the railroad station, stowed away their rifles and steel helmets and lined up for free chow.

Fifteen American women worked like biscuit pushers in a beanery, and when they began to lose ground against the crush of hungry Sammies the colonel himself jumped behind the counter and poured coffee out of a big pail.

There wasn't much time. The troop train slid into the station, the Sammies piled in, forty to a car, and the officers clambered into their coach.

Up forward the whistle tooted cautiously; a lantern flashed and the train moved out, carrying the first American Sammies to the front.

And some of them aren't coming back.

SLOUCHY MEN

A slouchy young man is not only to be criticised for his outside habit, the way he walks, talks and dresses, but for the inside habit which these things imply. A slouchy man is slouchy inside as well as outside. His mind is slouchy, his thinking lags, his ambitions droop. Any one can tell him on the streets. He swaggers along, lolls about and dresses like a scarecrow. The fashions are slouchy and he revels in them. You can not expect much of such a man. His spirit drivels and lounges along as if to be orderly and proper was a sin. Such young men are poor timber for citizenship.—Ohio State Journal.

FORCED ECONOMY

"How's the little old flivver going now?"

"Fine," replied Chuggins.

"Run it every day?"

"No. We have to alternate. One day we buy milk and the next we buy gasoline. We can't afford both on the same day."—Washington Star.

USING MORE ALUMINUM

Consumption of aluminum in the United States in 1916 is estimated at over 121,000,000 pounds. This is an increase of more than 21 per cent over the consumption in 1915, according to Uncle Sam's figures.

LA CANADA

The regular meeting of the Red Cross was held Tuesday afternoon in the school building. The following officers were elected at the meeting: Chairman, Mrs. Selleck; vice chairman, Mrs. Howard Cooper; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Murray; finance committee, Mrs. Penfield and Mrs. Pate. The following directors were also elected: Mrs. H. Cooper, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Lester, Mrs. Murray, Mrs. Penfield, Mrs. Selleck and Mrs. Jewett. Any one in the valley who has little scraps of yarn, send or give it to Mrs. Seright. This yarn, regardless of the color, will be knit into stockings for the little children of France. Tuesday, November 6, will be Exchange Day at the Red Cross. This means home-made bread, pies, cake, etc., will be for sale by the ladies. Remember the date and stop and see if the ladies can not supply you with something good to eat. All in the valley interested in Red Cross work are urged to come to the regular meetings on Tuesdays.

A Christian Endeavor social was held Tuesday evening in the church basement. Halloween games were enjoyed by all. The Christian Endeavor Society would like for any one in the valley interested in this organization to come not only to the socials but to the Sunday evening meetings. We want to keep this society alive, but we can not do so without your help.

Mr. Harry E. White, real estate man for La Canada valley and Flintridge Tract, certainly deserves a great deal of praise for the splendid work he has been doing the last few months in the valley. The many new homes going up in the Flintridge Tract proves that somebody has been a "hustler,' and this is known to be one of Mr. White's characteristics. La Canada valley is growing at a tremendous rate, and this is mainly due to the combined efforts of White & Major, real estate dealers for La Canada and Flintridge Tract.

Mr. Henry Baker, due to sickness has been confined to his home for several days. Monday afternoon he was taken to the Pasadena hospital. It is hoped by all that Mr. Baker will soon be back among his numerous friends in the valley.

A Halloween party was given on Wednesday evening by the grammar school girls of the La Canada school. Outdoor games were enjoyed by all, and many unique Halloween stunts were given. Refreshments were eaten in the old school building. Ghosts and witches played an active part in all the evening stunts. Miss Housam and Miss Horn were the invited guests of the girls.

The regular meeting of the Improvement Association will be held Saturday night, November 3. Many entertaining and instructive things will be given. Among some of the good things on the program will be the flag salute and patriotic quotations by the school children. Several interesting articles will be given by the different young people of the valley on "Our Flag." One-minute talks on "Prominent Men at the Present Time," "Short Sketches of the Presidents" will be heard. One question is to be asked, "How old is an old man?" Mr. Jewett is the only man in the valley who will be able to answer. An honor roll will be read of the young men who are serving Uncle Sam, and the following names will be on the roll: Hubert Bentley, transport driver in France; Russell Stickney, in the navy. These two boys are at the front, while the following are in training: Edwin Cooper, Robert Cooper, William Jewett, Kent Savage, Judson Douglas, Sidney Ellis, Jr., Albert Kuist, Harry R. Fouke and Richard Hood. The last part of the program will show the Goddess of Liberty and the audience will sing "The Star Spangled Banner," and also "America," "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," "Battle Cry of Freedom," "Hail, Columbia," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching," "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," "Dixie's Land," "The Soldier's Farewell," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home Again," "Just Before the Battle, Mother," and "The Vacant Chair." Everybody is to join in the singing, and as the association has no books for distribution it is asked that all having the songs mentioned would please bring them. In that way, some will have the words and can enter more into the spirit of the occasion.

Professor Irving Fisher of Yale declares that by the application of present day science at least 15 years can be added to the ordinary span of life. Needless diseases cost this country alone 630,000 lives a year, which, translated into money, are estimated at $1,500,000,000. Alcoholism, bad air and neglected teeth are given as the chief causes of physical decay.

SO MANY ARE LIKE THAT

"Were the eggs you got from the grocer fresh?" Mrs. Kawler asked.

"Oh, obsoletely," replied Mrs. Blunderby.

These times are testing not only the boys, but their fathers and mothers.

OLD PAPERS FOR RED CROSS

On Saturday, October 27, old newspapers and magazines were collected in machines driven by Mrs. Fairchild, Mr. Hartman, Mrs. Fannie L. Stone, Mr. Franklin, Mrs. Houston, Mrs. Hester, Mrs. H. V. Brown, Mr. McLane and Miss Bartlett. All the town was covered, though there were a number who were not at home.

This was the largest single collection we have ever made, and when Mr. John Todd sold them for us he received $49.90 for the lot. The best we have ever done before was $34.08. We will bring it up to a hundred dollars for the single collection yet. Hereafter we shall be glad to receive all sorts of junk, rags, bottles, rubber, old metal, etc. Mrs. Nanno Woods has promised us an old watch and Mrs. Schuyler two solid silver spoons which have been damaged in a fire but whcih we can sell to advantage. Altogether we have received for the Red Cross these last two weeks:

From sale of newspapers and magazines	$49.90
Donated by Ralph Day	.10
From sale of three bottles	.06
Donated by schoolboy	.01
Donated by unknown	.30
Donated by unknown	.48
Donated by anonymous	1.50
Total	$52.25

THE RIGHT OF WAY

(By E. A. Guest, in Milestones.)

I've ceased to ride with Ezra Green,
Who drives a fine, high powered machine;
I'd rather walk for miles in dust
Than let him hold my life in trust.
On hot and sticky days, by far
I'd rather take a trolley car
Than risk the dangers of the street
On Ezra's richly cushioned seat,
For Ezra is the sort of jay
That boasts about his right of way.

Bound north or south, he gives her gas,
And will not let a stranger pass;
At crossings never once he slows
But madly on the road he goes.
And when I mention caution, he
Then scornfully looks back at me
And this is what I hear him say:
"Don't fret, I've got the right of way;
The other chap must careful be,
It's up to him to stop for me."

It's hard to sit in comfort cool,
Beside a driver who's a fool;
Although I have a worthless neck,
I would not risk it in a wreck,
Nor would my precious blood I draw
By folly countenanced by law.
It would not help when I am dead
And my poor soul above has fled,
To have the judge and jury say:
"Deceased possessed the right of way."

So now when reckless Ezra Green
Invites me into his machine,
Politely some excuse I give
And spurn his ride, that I may live.
I fear too much, when I am out,
The right of way he boasts about;
This though is always at the top:
Some day the other chap won't stop.
And graveyards choke with men today
Who trusted to their right of way.

Beware of bad beginnings. He who does not take the first wrong step will never take the second.
